

Given the level of maturity reached by the company after more than 25 years of experience in the business of cutting up steel and aluminum as well as the heat treatment of steels, SAT, aware of further improving its performance both technical and commercial, is committed to obtaining ISO 9001 v 2015 certification.

This quality system is called upon to generate the continuous improvement of customer satisfaction as well as the performance of the company; with the participation of all staff members. Indeed, all staff are aware of the need to continuously meet customer requirements in order to further improve the positioning of the company both nationally. This will only have beneficial effects for everyone: company and staff.

To ensure continuous improvement, this system is monitored through a set of updated and evaluated objectives leading to improvement actions.

In order to achieve the assigned objectives, the Management undertakes to identify and ensure the availability of the resources, the necessary information and an adequate working environment, to meet the applicable requirements and to the continuous improvement of the quality management system.

The implementation of this quality policy must lead to the achievement of the following quality objective::

-  Maintain and improve the effectiveness of the Quality Management System
-  Ensure a higher level of customer satisfaction and relevant interested party
-  Improve turnover
-  Retain staff and improve their professional skills